

Welcome

In the heart of Virginia, where the Blue Ridge Mountains meet gently rolling hills, lies The Virginia Piedmont. Within the majestic mountains and pristine landscape of this region await quaint towns and villages, outdoor recreation, award-winning wineries, unique shops and restaurants, and the historic sites where much of American history was forged.

Explore the foothills, from James Madison's Montpelier in Orange County, to the arts & culture of Rappahannock County, the historic town and battlefields of Culpeper, the many wineries of Fauquier County, and the great outdoors of Madison County. Follow scenic roads through breathtaking countryside bordered by centuries-old stone fences.

Walk the main streets of historic towns and villages, filled with one-of-a-kind shops and genuine hospitality. Enjoy cuisine for every taste, from quirky diners to fine dining known all over the world. From the comfort of your room in a romantic B & B, country inn, or hotel, enjoy the view as the sun sets over the Piedmont. Relax and reflect on tomorrow's adventures because something special awaits you in The Virginia Piedmont...

Culpeper

Unique in all the world, there is no other town with the name Culpeper. With an amazing collection of unique shops, exceptional restaurants, and small-town charm, Culpeper lies at the heart of the Piedmont. Find gourmet chocolates, organic meats and produce, country ham, and fresh baked goods all within a few blocks. Take a Wine & Moonshine tour at our wineries or at the only legal moonshine distillery in the state - Belmont Farm! See how shine is made and hear stories of the owner's grandfather, whose secret family recipe is still used today.

Fauquier

The heart of Virginia's horse & wine country

Just 40 miles west of Washington, D.C., explore Virginia's Horse & Wine Country. Steeped in equestrian tradition, today Fauquier County is also known for its twenty-plus wineries and award-winning wines. But there's more to Fauquier County than majestic horses and great Virginia wine.

Fauquier County is traversed by wooden fences and old stone walls that speak of history and hide the quaint towns and villages that instill the special character of this unique place.

Outdoor lovers can enjoy bicycle trails, hiking, horseback riding, canoeing and fishing, and Fauquier's breathtaking vistas. With numerous bed & breakfasts, spas, unique shops & restaurants, wineries & vineyards, farm tours & orchards, Civil War Trails, and easy accessibility, Fauquier is perfect for a get away.

Live the history that surrounds us here on the Civil War battlefields of Kelly's Ford, Cedar Mountain, and Brandy Station, where the largest cavalry battle in the western hemisphere was fought in 1863. See the Graffiti House where the charcoal writings and drawings left by both Union & Confederate soldiers were hidden for more than a century. Follow in some very large footprints at the Museum of Culpeper History, where a set of 215 million year old dinosaur tracks found in a local quarry are displayed and an entire gallery interprets the Civil War in Culpeper. History of a more modern kind lives on at the Library of Congress National Audio-Visual Conservation Center. In addition to collecting, preserving and restoring all of America's film & audio history, the NAVCC makes that history accessible by offering free screenings of classic movies and silent films with live music. It's a unique chance to see these great films on the big screen - as they were meant to be seen!

Visit Culpeper soon, where you'll see that we are Still Making History. With so much to see and do, you'll make some history of your own.

Walk in the footsteps of James Madison at Montpelier

Graced with rolling landscapes and breathtaking mountain vistas, Orange County invites you to escape and stay awhile. Savor the finest wines at Barboursville and Horton Vineyards and tour old world cellars where the smell of oak barrels and aged wines offer an unforgettable experience. Stay at a delightful bed and breakfast and indulge your senses at any of our fine restaurants. Search for treasures in the many antique stores and galleries of downtown Orange and along the quaint streets of Gordonsville.

Immerse yourself in American history as you walk in the footsteps of James Madison at his magnificently restored home, Montpelier. Envision the crimson fields of battle and feel the spirit of thousands of soldiers at Orange County's Civil War sites.

Madison County, formed in 1792, was named for the family of future president James Madison. In character and feeling, the County has changed little since the day it was created. With rolling hills and valleys producing beef, dairy products and grains, agriculture reigns supreme. Orchards climb the steeper slopes and the lush vineyards at Prince Michel, Sweely Estate, Castle Gruen and Brightwood Vineyard and Farm welcome visitors. Bounded on the west by the Shenandoah National Park, adventurers can hike along the Skyline Drive and the Appalachian Trail. Climb to the top of 3,268-foot-high Old Rag Mountain for breathtaking views of Virginia's Piedmont!

The Civil War still echoes at the sites of the Battle of James City and the Battle of Jack's Shop and throughout the countryside still dotted with antebellum homes along the old Blue Ridge Turnpike (Route 231). Every Labor Day weekend, enjoy a Taste of the Mountains, a heritage festival that celebrates 18th & 19th century life with vendors displaying handmade crafts, music, and entertainment for kids, too. Listen to the sounds of the mountains at a blue grass festival at Graves' Mountain Lodge or take in a Music on the Lawn concert under the summer sky. No matter what time of year, there's always something to look forward to in Madison.

As the beautiful rolling hills give rise to the Blue Ridge Mountains in the distance, friendly people, award-winning wineries, historic sites and museums beckon you. In Orange County, serenity awaits.

Orange

The Virginia Piedmont is...

A quiet escape from the ordinary

Less than an hour from Northern Virginia, Washington D.C., Fredericksburg, Charlottesville, and Shenandoah National Park

Rural beauty, farms, breathtaking views, and wineries

History from dinosaurs to presidents, the Revolution to the Civil War, and the rich culture of the Piedmont

Quaint towns, unique shops & galleries filled with friendly people

A culinary mecca for every taste with great traditional diners, ethnic cuisine, casual restaurants, and exceptional fine dining

Fox hunts, horseback riding and world-class horse shows

Wine & Moonshine

Accommodations for everyone: romantic B & B's, country inns, and full service hotels

Known for its scenic beauty, agriculture and cultural delights, Rappahannock County lies in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains adjoining Shenandoah National Park. With a population of only 7,000 people, Rappahannock is a rural oasis with no traffic lights, fast food or "big box" stores. While cell phone service may be sparse, the lifestyle enjoyed by County residents is both modern and connected.

Historically agricultural and with a strong commitment to land conservation, Rappahannock County has remained pristine and is described by many as "a scenic masterpiece made perfect by nature." The landscape of Rappahannock is speckled with award-winning wineries and a distillery, orchards and farms, cozy country inns, B&Bs and cottages, and art and antique galleries. Visitors may enjoy the performing arts at the Theatre at Washington and at the RAAC Community Theatre in the Town of Washington, and at the Theatre House at Castleton Farms, home of Maestro Lorin and Dietlinde Maazel. For over five decades, Maestro Maazel has been one of the world's most esteemed and sought-after conductors.

The Town of Washington, with a population of fewer than 200 people, has never outgrown the five-block by two-block grid that George Washington laid out when he surveyed the town in 1749 at the age of 17. It is home to the world famous, five-star The Inn at Little Washington with renowned Chef Patrick O'Connell. The village of Sperryville offers art and antique galleries, restaurants, a distillery, and even a coffee roaster, all at the gateway to Shenandoah National Park. The village of Flint Hill is a favorite among bikers, hikers and runners. The ideal terrain and spectacular views make for a great starting point for the annual Fodderstack 10K race. Along with its neighboring counties, Rappahannock offers "Something Special in the Foothills."
